APS 162H1S – Calculus for Engineers I, Summer 2018
1 Position
This online-only course focuses on the fundamental tools of calculus and its connections to engineering. The topics include limits, differentiation, graphing, optimization problems, and definite and indefinite integrals in the first semester. Problems combining calculus with geometry, linear algebra, statics, and mechanics will be examined.

One Teaching assistant position is available for APS 162, from June 25 to September 21, 2018. The contract will be for 40 hours per semester, at the rate of $44.44 per hour, plus 4% vacation pay.

We are looking for an applicant with at least an M.Sc. in either Mathematics or Engineering, with experience teaching first-year engineering calculus. The applicant should be very comfortable working with Learning Management Systems (e.g., Blackboard) and be able to handle administrative duties that use its applications. Familiarity with pedagogical ideas of both calculus and online courses would be an asset.

The TA duties will include a large amount of marking, including weekly assignments and a final, written modeling assignment. The course is expected to have ~50 students. The TA will run some of the weekly online office hours (at a time to be determined later). The TA will provide technical support for the course, posting course materials and filling in the details connecting the videos to the appropriate sections in the course.

Anticipated Enrolment: 50 students

How to Apply:
Candidates are asked to submit, as ONE PDF document, the following:
1. 1-page Cover letter;
2. Curriculum Vitae;
3. A summary that demonstrates your experience, interest and/or excellence in teaching (maximum 1 page).

Please email completed application package to fyjobs@ecf.utoronto.ca

The application deadline is Monday, May 31, 9 AM, 2018.
Posting Date: Tuesday May 22, 2018.
