First Year Foundations Program, Engineering Design 101 Course
Faculty of Applied Science & Engineering
Emergency Posting
Summer 2019, August 12 – 16, 2019
Job Posting: CUPE 3902 Unit 1

Engineering Design 101 is a week-long course that is delivered to newly admitted Engineering Students prior to the beginning of their Fall term. This highly-interactive program introduces engineering design and communication as central aspects of first-year engineering education at UofT. The course instructor will co-design and co-deliver content designed for students with little or no previous experience with these concepts. The course is inspired by the first-year engineering design programs in Core-8 (Engineering Strategies and Practice) and Engineering Science (Praxis), and is supports students as they become more familiar with the UofT St. George campus and resources.

One Engineering Design Instructor position is available for this course from, August 12 – 16, 2019. The contract will be for 50 hours, at the rate of $45.33 per hour, plus 4% vacation pay.

Qualifications: The candidate will be a presently-enrolled graduate student, from Engineering at the University of Toronto. They will be familiar with the Engineering Strategies and Practice AND/OR the Engineering Science Praxis courses. Experience teaching in an active learning environment is considered an asset.

Duties: Duties will include co-designing and co-delivering instructional content for this course, and is likely to include some grading responsibilities (dependent on course content). Instructors may be provided with TA support. The course will have approximately 30 students.

How to Apply:
Candidates are asked to submit, as ONE PDF document, the following:

1. One page Cover letter;
2. Curriculum Vitae;
3. One page summary that demonstrates your experience, interest and/or excellence in teaching
