

Dean's Undergraduate Student Summer Research Pivot Fellowship 2023 Call for Applications

The 2023 Dean's Undergraduate Student Summer Research Pivot Fellowship competition is open for applications. These awards recognize academic merit and are intended to support research projects where students are co-supervised (i.e., collaborative projects between two faculty members where at least one faculty member must be from U of T FASE). Existing collaborative projects are eligible; however, preference will be given to new collaborations. Supervisors must be faculty members; post-doctoral fellows and graduate students will not be considered as co-supervisors.

For more information, applicants are encouraged to contact Jennifer Banh, Undergraduate Research and International Experience Coordinator (URIE@engineering.utoronto.ca).

Total Award Value: $6,500 CAD, tenable at U of T (paid in Canadian funds). Each award is valued at $5,000 CAD; supervisors must contribute an additional $1,500 CAD.

Term: Summer 2023; 14-week period (May – August)

Awards to be allocated: Up to 8 fellowships will be awarded during this year's competition

Award Criteria: Recipients must not hold any other summer stipend or fellowship support and must participate in the FASE Undergraduate Summer Research Program (USRP).

Eligibility: All undergraduate students, international and domestic, are eligible to apply. Students currently on PEY are eligible pending completion of their position by April 30th, 2023. Successful international candidates must hold a valid student visa for the duration of the fellowship.

Application Due Date: Monday, March 20th, 2023, 12:00pm EST

Application Process:

Your application package must include the following, combined in one single PDF document:

- Completed Application Form (see below)
- Current CV
